These are the things you need to know about Magick and how to have a successful relationship with it. These are also the things you need to know after ordering Magick from PlutoCraft.

In this manual, I use the word “you”. This doesn’t mean I’m always talking about YOU specifically, I just use it metaphorically.

Also, if you have sensitive feelings and are easily offended, I strongly suggest you stop reading this material because it may stir up some discomfort. My goal is not to babysit anyone’s feelings. My goal is to show you the real world and how people mess up their own success so you can learn from it and think twice before doing something stupid.

Remember: How you behave after ordering Magick from PlutoCraft dramatically determines the speed of the outcome as well as the outcome itself.

Please read this entirely before ordering any Magick from Plutocraft. It’s short, down to the point, and you will learn a lot!

I want to talk about several mistakes people make and how they can’t figure out why their results don’t show up. Even though I post these rules on my Rules page, some people still feel free to break them. Here are the rules:

<http://plutocraft.com/about-us/rules/>

It’s up to you if you want to break them or not. If you do, you’ll simply get a long delay in your results or you won’t get any results. And I will still get paid. So, again, make your choice.

Before we continue, I want to address a very important fact: nearly all people who don’t break the rules get their results quickly and effectively. Those who break them get very delayed results and they’re usually incomplete.

Why does it work like this? Read on and find out!

One of the biggest rules people break is the rule of secrecy. This is not really my rule. This is a rule of Magick. Why does it exist? I don't know... it simply is.

How do some people break this rule and other rules?

1. After ordering Magick they go to other psychics and ask to see if the Magick is working. Big mistake. The rule was just violated and the other psychic won't be able to tell much because I cloak my work. Why do I cloak? Well, what if you order a love spell and your loved one goes to a psychic? Or what if a curse was cast on your relationship - do you really want the other magician to see that someone is doing a reversal and elimination of their curse?

Going to another psychic for the same issue violates the trust between you and your ordered Magick. Why do you have to see "if it's working"? Because you don't trust it deep inside. And if you don't trust what you've ordered, why did you do it in the first place? That's why I post this manual openly so people can make a choice.

2. Obsession. This is a big one! Some people are extremely obsessed with getting their loved one back or getting any result. No matter how many times I explain that obsession is a severe block, people still obsess. And some people obsess over anything. Feel free to do this if you want a delay in results and to attract more obsession. Because this is how it works.

Can't patiently wait for results with faith? Then I'm not your magician. You can try those websites that guarantee your results in 3 days... Charlatans will be more than happy to guarantee and promise you anything you want to hear. I'm not saying that I don't get people results in 3 days. Sometimes I get them in just hours. But if your case requires a longer waiting time, then I want you to be patient.

I don't give out time frames. I noticed only charlatans do. None of my friends who are reputable Magicians give out guaranteed time frames. One thing I can promise is this: PlutoCraft always tries to get you results as fast as possible. And again, if you can't patiently wait – please go somewhere else, as I'll not tolerate any obsessive behavior or impatience. I'll drop the case pretty quick if I get annoying emails about “when, when, when.”

One thing I want to add about obsession: Usually it is there because of an extreme misbalance in the energy fields due to various reasons. Most of these reasons are very poor choices that the client has made.

However, it can be healed. I personally use Remote Influencing to heal it. Healing it more often than not dramatically speeds up results and improves other areas of a person’s life. If you want me to do a healing on it, email me: master@plutocraft.com This is NOT a free service.

Some people ask if Remote Influencing can be combined with Magick and used towards the desired person or outcome. The answer is yes, extremely effectively, but it is extra work and it costs more. And if you have extra money that you want to invest in getting your results quicker, I strongly suggest you order Remote Influencing.

Ok, seriously. The remote Influencing that I do is an excellent and extremely powerful service. It helped me work overnight miracles.

Let’s continue.

Here are some signs of obsession: thinking about the outcome too often, checking the Facebook page of the loved one, spying on the loved one, having fear that the loved one will be with someone else, obsessing over any detail about what the loved one said or wrote, trying to find out where the loved one spends time and with whom, panicking, being obnoxious about the situation, visiting other psychics, lying to make yourself feel better, ready to do “anything” to get an ex back, being always on guard when an ex calls, texts, posts something on the FB wall, etc. and trying to find a justified reason for doing these things... You’ve got the idea.

My suggestion: after ordering Magick, “forget” about everything and your ex until your ex comes back to you. Usually they do it when you LEAST expect it. Ironically, people who have obsession do not get their loved one back while in an obsessive mode, but they often do after they truly give up.

3. Not trusting your Magician. If you don't fully trust PlutoCraft, please go somewhere else. We have more than enough people who need help and we are not in the business of wasting time. Some people have their expectations, which are usually very rigid, and we have our expectations, which are pretty open. So, if your expectations don't match ours, it doesn't mean that Magick isn't working. It means that it is not working the way you wanted it to work. We are not in the business of satisfying anyone's ego to make Magick work the way some people want it to work.

"I want my ex to be in deep love with me, fast, and have no other male friends. I want her to belong to me and only to me."

These are typical requests we get by email which we don't even reply to. We don't serve the ego trips of controlling people. No wonder that ex doesn't want to be with them. So, the bottom line is: be courteous to your ex and trust your Magician.

4. Ordering someone's soul. Some people get the impression that if they paid money to bring their ex back, they actually ordered someone's soul and they can now act however they want towards the ex - and some even get the balls to act like that towards the Magician, too. Some even go so far as thinking that now that soul belongs to them and only to them, and they can do whatever they want with it.

The message I have for those people is this: you did not order anyone's soul. You've paid money to have a second chance with that person who left you because, very often, they did it for a very good reason. And that second chance comes from work of a high Spiritual nature. Making your demands and showing an ignorant attitude will result in an instant drop of your case with no questions asked. Instead, try to figure out why your ex left you in the first place.

5. Which leads us to this: Repeating the same mistake. Let me just show you an example, and you will get an idea. Some people lose their exes due to... well, for example, being too controlling. Well, while Magick is in progress, their ex may send them a message or call to just say "Hi", and guess what some of the clients do? They start accusing and controlling the ex right away!!! They respond with messages like: Where have you been, who are you seeing, are you having sex, etc. Guess what impression their ex gets. Yes, they feel that they made the very right choice when they left that relationship!!! And you know what? I don't blame them.

What I say to these people is this: while you are not together, it is none of your business. He or she can do whatever they want because they are free. So can you. Your ex can't accuse you of anything either. In fact, I did notice that those who just don't sit and obsess over their ex and actually go on dates get their ex back much quicker.

So, the point is this: if you ordered Magick, don't even think that you can repeat the same mistakes again and your ex will tolerate it. While I do the work, I don't want anyone to repeat the same mistakes. Again, I do Magick to give you a second chance, but not to chain your ex lover to your possible humiliation. This should be crystal clear.

Some people even have the nerve to tell me that it's all their ex's fault and they are 100% innocent because "it's her who cheated and then left". Cheating and leaving is usually the result of an unhealthy relationship, which is usually a result of both sides of a couple not being able to handle such a relationship. And if it's really "her fault" and you did nothing wrong, then have respect and pride for yourself and choose not to be with such a person if she is "such a horrible person".

Those are the main points on how to make ordering Magick work for you. If they are too tough then I can say only one thing: you can go and pay money to those who will make it sound like a sweet fairy tale and will give you a lot of emotional nourishment until you pay the money.

Regarding money. Some say my Magick is expensive. Well, PlutoCraft does work at the highest strength and degree, using high quality supplies and a lot of hours and energy. Plus, PlutoCraft is a recognized and reputable name within several reputable communities, including local communities. We don't do $25.00 spells because we spend much more just on supplies. And I personally don't know anyone who legitimately does Magick for $25.00, not even mentioning professionally... So yes, we are getting paid well for our work by people who want high grade results.

I, for example, spend a lot of time and faithful dedication to perform Remote Influencing and mind-control at a distance. Yes, most of the clients for this service feel the results the very next day, but little do they know that it took me a long time to get to that level, and it takes me time to improve and improve daily. Nancy and I, we don't slack. We faithfully improve and improve and we spend money on those improvements too. This results in you getting better results.

Think about it: during a psychic competition where the average score was 62%, I scored 93% - and that was a tough competition! In fact, there were only 2 people who scored against me. One of them was an employee of the business (the people who win the competition have an opportunity to work for an upscale store). I still passed the competition and of course got an employment opportunity which I occasionally accepted part time.

To pass, you have to get 90% or above. If I am not mistaken, there were only two of us who passed out of about 20 people. Me and the person who passed were the only ones who didn't brag about how great we are and how we know everything. If you could only hear how well many others advertised themselves as nearly the "best psychic in the whole state of Georgia." Some dropped out right away, before the competition even started, as it is not the kind of competition where self-advertising wins.

So, yes, we do charge prices for our services.

Tip: if money is an issue or if you really think it's expensive, order a money spell in combination with your work. Most clients report getting much more money than they spend on all the spells combined. Some even report a dramatic business sales increase!

Magicians are not Gods! Some people think that Magicians are Gods and can do anything. That's wrong. The best comparison I have is that a Magician is like an attorney. We represent the client in front of God. But we are not Gods. It is up to God when and how to deliver your results. It is not up to the Magician or you. If God sees you being impatient, then maybe there is a patience lesson you need to learn first. If you have Karmic debt, then maybe you need to resolve that first before you get what you want. However, Magicians can request a faster speed of results and we know the right formulas to represent you in front of the Universe.

So, any ego trips like “I want it fast”, “I demand”, “I want her to be only mine and have no male friends” are not viewed positively. But it’s not necessarily the demands that you state. It’s the demands you feel inside. Some people think that if they don’t write these demands in emails, they can get away with it because nobody knows. Please...

First, use your common sense and be reasonable. When you have a strong desire, it can become an obsession in your mind. You may question whether or not the magick is working. You may wonder if being late for work had something to do with a spell. You might even wonder if you deserve to have what you want. Overall, you’re probably making strong demands on the Universe and other people to perform exactly how you want them to. All of this kind of thinking will inevitably destroy any work that is done by you and by Magick. This thinking actually stops you from achieving your goals.

You must let go of these thoughts.

Take a deep breath and step back from the situation so that your emotions don’t lead you into any undesirable situations. Imagine having your desire come into reality. Really feel it. Now know that it can happen. Know that you deserve it.

Now let it go.

Don’t keep thinking about how it’s going to happen, why it won’t happen, or whatever else your mind comes up with to trick you into being obsessive. Gently tell your mind, “Thank you for the input, but I’m not allowing your negative energy into my life right now.” Then release it. Do this as often as needed.

If you’re still having troubles, examine your motivation. Let’s say you want to have a relationship with someone. Do you feel you NEED to be in a relationship with this person? Do you think this person HAS to be with you or you can’t be happy?

Are these reasonable demands?

No. They're not. What if someone walked up to you and said, "You NEED to be with me now, or I can't be happy. Because I NEED you to be with me, you HAVE to be."

You'd probably think they were crazy. You definitely wouldn't want to be with them. In fact, you might even run away from them!

Even though you may not be saying these things to the other person, they can certainly sense this energy coming from you. If you're thinking this way, you're never going to be able to form a lasting relationship with anyone. It may help to write down these demands on a piece of paper and take a long hard look at them. Realize that they are absurd. Understand that your happiness doesn't have to rely on outside forces (like other people). If it does, then your happiness will be on a mood swing roller coaster ride every day!

When you can be happy within yourself, just being yourself, then you can be happy whether it's raining or shining. Then you are truly free to manifest anything!

The harder you try to hold onto something,
The quicker it will leave you.
Once you stop trying to hold on so hard,
You can have anything you want.

When you try to hold water by clenching your fist, it slips right out of your hands, right? But when you gently cup your hands, supporting the water, only then can you drink it. Apply this philosophy to your desires, and you will be amazed at the results.

The Importance of Diagnostics

Another way that Plutocraft gives you the best opportunity possible is by performing a Diagnostic. This deep divination lets us know if your goal has a decent chance of coming into reality, and if this will be a good thing for you. Yes, sometimes what you want can end up being bad for you and others. A Diagnostic lets us know ahead of time what to expect and what to avoid, allowing for the best situation possible. It doesn't just answer your questions; it gives us a Magickal plan of attack!

In the Very Rare Case of Failure...

If the Magick does not work out as you expected or wanted, chances are there is no point in performing more Magick or going somewhere else. Out of all this time in business, we have NEVER heard that someone performed work better than PlutoCraft.

In fact, we teach and do work for other Magicians.

And if you only knew how many people come to us after being scammed by charlatans or after failures of numerous other Magicians... Some of these people found our website first, but found a "better deal" somewhere else. They paid money and got scammed. And then, they have to pay us extra because the longer someone delays, the harder it is to get success, so more work is needed and of course, it costs more.

We take our work very seriously and do our utmost to bring about the best energies and opportunities for each of our clients. There is always a tangible effect, and there is always very powerful work done.

On the very rare occasion that the situation doesn't work out as desired, then performing more Magick probably isn't the solution since we've already put all of our effort into it. It is quite possible that you will require other forms of help in order to achieve your goal or even find a more suitable goal for you.

Also keep in mind that Magick doesn't work indefinitely. We can remove blocks, but if more blocks come up later, then more removal needs to be done on these new blocks. The Universe isn't static. Energy is always moving and shifting, and absolutely nothing is permanent.

If you are experiencing difficulties forming relationships or reconciling a relationship with a loved one, we strongly encourage you to see a life coach or mental health professional. Don't be afraid to combine Magick with other forms of professional help. This can be a very powerful combination, especially if you have Magick done to find the right person to help you!

Conclusion

Magick does not create your life for you. It is a powerful tool and weapon for change and opportunity. Respect it, trust it, work with it, and will serve you well.

At Plutocraft we do everything within our power to help you. However, Magick does not always clean up the whole mess, nor does it always work overnight. In fact, it is very rare that Magick can completely solve a problem in a snap. You may see results right away, but it takes time for large shifts in the Universe to be completed.

This is actually a good thing, as changes that have time to form are much stronger and longer lasting than so-called "quick fixes". Those quick solutions usually unravel within days or weeks. Remember: A little bit of patience can be extremely rewarding.

You may have to make changes in your life or your outlook in order to fully take advantage of what we (and Magick) have to offer you. We certainly encourage you to work on self-improvement in conjunction with Magick for the best effect.
