Introduction

Love Magick is in big demand. Around 70% of my clients come to me for Love Magick, and 9 out of 10 of those clients want to get their ex lover back. I do Love Magick rituals all the time. And I will take you on a short, yet very informative journey during which you will explore the depths of reuniting with your ex lover.

I will teach you the most common causes of break ups, and the real truth in ethics when it comes to Love Magick. I will teach you how I do this work and how I view it, and I will provide you with information that you will not find anywhere else.

I will also show you the beauty and the dangers of Love Magick. You will soon know what a lot of other Magicians do wrong when they try to reunite two people together.

And I will let you see for yourself what keeps PlutoCraft at an enormously high success rate when it comes to reuniting two hearts together and giving them the true joy of love. I'm very proud to make this statement! And I am very proud of my business, which mostly involves helping people and teaching people. I love what I do.

What does it take to reunite two people together? Let's explore!

Who Am I?

Hello. My name is Yevgeniy and I am a founder of PlutoCraft.com I am a Master Magician which means that not only I do Magick for people like you, but I also conduct numerous researches and teach other Magicians as well.

Throughout years of Magickal research and expertise, I have conducted nearly half a thousand successful spells in all areas of life: love, sex, money, protection, wealth, glamor, fame, recognition, sales... you name it.

I play with Light Arts and Black Arts. If I have to go light, I go light. If I have to go dark, I go dark. Love Magick is mostly a grey area. It is NOT Black Magick as some theoreticians claim. Nor does it have to be bad for your Karma. Nor it is breaking someone's free will, how most claim it to be. It is neutral. It is your intent that makes the difference.

While others debate the ethics of Love Magick, my clients safely enjoy the success and pleasure of having their loved one back. Some of my clients include large businesses and famous celebrities, however most of my clients include people just like you. I also have other powerful Magicians coming to me for help and advice. I am proud to say that most of my business consists of repeat customers and referrals. There is a great reason why: I keep a 100% success rate at what I do.

I am not saying all of that to impress you. I am saying all of that to impress upon you and assure you that you are receiving this information from someone who knows the ins and outs of Love Magick very well. And someone who knows from practice, not theories, or even worse – from what is written on the Internet or some modern books...

In fact, Love Magick is the most demanded service: as I said, about 70% of my clients want to reunite with their ex lover or bring a new love into their life.

There is a great reason why: love is the strongest force that drives us! And I am a strong believer that if you are not happy in the love area of your life, other areas may seem to start hurting, too. I am also a strong believer in that, if you truly love someone, you should always pursue getting that particular person back.

However, I am not a big believer in ego. There are many people out there who want their ex back just because he or she dumped them. There are people out there who will use all possible means to “get back”, including using Magick. And that is when a line should be drawn for good.

So again, please be assured that you are acquiring true, very powerful, and practical knowledge right now and I want you to use this knowledge for only good purposes. See this clearly for yourself.

Is Love Magick Ethical?

Unfortunately, there are way too many people out there with very questionable practical experience that feel free to claim that all Love Magick is unethical. They refer to things like “breaking free will”, “raping the soul”, “being unethical” and very often refer to Karma.

Let’s make things clear: I am a strong believer in Karma. And I often question what really bad Karma truly is.

a) Being weak and letting go of your love, then suffering while most likely your lover suffers, too?

Or...

b) Bringing back your love, causing both of you to be happy together?

I like answer b. I strongly feel that Karma is on the side of answer b.

And you may agree very soon after you discover the reasons why break ups happen later in this report. You may be very shocked and amazed once you find out the true causes of break ups. If, right now, you think that your break up happened because there is another guy or girl in your lover’s life, you may be very, very wrong.

In fact, there is a good 99% chance that you lover has no idea why the break up happened as well.

But soon, you will be extremely educated on this subject, and not only you will know what you can do to get your love back, but you will also know how to be with your lover happily and in true, deep love for as long as both of you want.

So, no matter what is going on right now, I want you to start feeling very excited! Soon, you will be able to be with your love, together again. There is at least 98% of a very solid chance for that!

So, let's get back to the subjects of ethics. Forget everything you've heard about ethics and Love Magick and consider this:

What is your intention?

If your intention is to get back at the person and toy with the person or if your intention is an ego trip because that person is with someone else and it hits your ego – then using Love Magick will be very unethical. And yes, you will most likely be subject to Karmic Laws.

However, if your intention to be with that person comes from the heart, you truly love the person, you are willing to accept the person for who he or she really is, and you wish only the best for both of you – then Love Magick can be your best choice, if not the only choice you have.

In this case, it is perfectly ok to feel pain if your lover is with someone else right now. It is very understandable. If you love someone – it will hurt. And naturally, you want to separate the new relationship and claim your lover back. This is ok too. These are natural human behaviors.

Remember, humans are predators. Things like survival and competition are not only perfectly fine, they are also a part of human nature. The question is how you compete and survive and what your intentions are. That's where moral ethics should be really considered.

I really hope you get the idea of ethics and you are now able to distinguish the difference between unethical use of Love Magick and its beneficial, ethical use.

What Went Wrong?

Now comes the fun part. Almost everyone who comes to me wanting to reunite with their lover does not know what really happened. Neither does their lover.

Many people think that the relationship ended because their lover told them that “he/she doesn’t feel the same anymore”, “he/she needs more space”, “he/she met someone new”, etc...

But those are effects of the cause. What is the real cause then? To answer that question, a divination is needed. For those who don’t know, divination is using psychic ability to tap into energies to uncover the truth. It can be done with Tarot cards, pendulum, Ouija board and other tools. We will talk about this a little bit later.

In just a moment you will know the most common causes of a break up.

Stop here for a moment. I want you to relax and read them carefully. You may start feeling an intuitive nudge over one of those causes, and if you do – then there is a very high chance that cause is the one! A lot of times people say “I knew it!” If that happens to you, too – great!

Cause # 1.

Black Magick interference. BEWARE!

This is not a common cause, but also not that uncommon. It does happen more often than people think. There are a lot of times when mom doesn't like the girl her son is dating and mom runs for help from a Black Magician. There are also too many cases where someone likes a person and they also run to a Black Magician for help or simply cast the spell themselves. Unfortunately, Black Magick spells are very easy to cast, they hit fast, and no experience is needed to cause a change.

However, there are some drawbacks which are very bad. First of all, Black Magick involves heavy Karma. Second, the spells cast by amateurs rarely last long. Third, a lot of people get to suffer. Fourth, once a Black Magick spell gets reversed against the caster, it becomes very nasty for the caster of such a spell.

What amateurs do is start recasting Black Magick spells after things start going wrong. And that's when the real mess begins. Very often, the victim of a Black Magick spell (in this case a lover) moves far away from the illusion of being in love with the caster, however he or she has no idea why they can't leave that person.

It's like being in a mental jail where clarity is very cloudy. At the same time, the caster already feels that there is no love present, however the caster continues doing the work. At this point, most likely, the caster is not mentally stable anymore. Black Magick has a tendency to cause all sorts of mental illness and it does it very quick.

Early stages of Black Magick use and abuse usually include paranoia, depression and heavy emotional instability. But this is just the beginning.

Unfortunately, the victim (lover) or multiple victims (lover and you) can be damaged too. It is absolutely necessary to seek the help of a professional if Black Magick is involved because effects of it that aren't removed may last for many years to come, and not in a good way at all. People can easily get "bad luck" in many areas of their lives for many, many years.

There are, of course, professional Black Magicians who know the craft on a different level. These don't usually cast tens of Black Magick spells for one cause. However, it is a very rare case when a professional Black Magician is being used. Very rare. And if that's the case – it can be resolved, too.

What I am really talking about are amateurs who go on the Internet, pull out some spells, and cause severe damage to themselves and some people around them.

Almost every single time it ends up very bad for the amateur, especially when “the goodies” get reversed. So, it can end up bad for a lot of professional Black Magicians.

“For every fighter, there is a stronger fighter”... Once someone overtakes the working of a professional Black Magician and calls on Karma and Judgment, things get very nasty.

I've seen too many cases where someone was successfully casting Black Magick for tens of years and then ended up pretty bad once someone “disarmed” them.

Cause # 2.

Love Magick. Hey!

Surprised? Yes, sometimes Love Magick is used to drive your lover away from you. This very often happens when a teenage girl likes a boy and she “innocently” casts a spell on him. And it also happens very often in the adult world.

I compare this to a weaker stage of Black Magick. Unfortunately, when a Love Spell is being cast by an amateur, it is not far from being Black Magick at all.

And the same principle applies with amateur love spell casters – they can't keep the lover and they cause damage. It doesn't make sense to retype the whole thing again. Simply go to cause # 1 and replace Black Magick with Love Magick (assuming it is amateurish).

You got the idea.

Cause # 3.

Evil Eye. Pay close attention to this one!

Have you taken a close look at the people who surround you? Especially your friends? Are they happy in their love lives? Are they really happy? Do they sometimes check out your loved one? Evil Eye mostly refers to jealousy coming from people who surround you. See, when you are happy in your relationship and others aren't truly happy, they project jealousy, which is focused and directed towards you.

Many people underestimate the Evil Eye. It has the power to destroy a relationship just like a Black Magick spell. And the Evil Eye is very evil.

Here is why:

Unlike a Black Magick spell, it is usually unfelt and takes effect slowly. Everything seems to be going fine and then arguments start. Then, more arguments. More disagreements. More discord. And it may actually take 3 – 12 months before any major shift happens in the relationship.

Well, because of the slow effect, it does seem like everything happening is natural. People may think they are incompatible. People may think this is the way it should be. I like to compare the Evil Eye to a termite. It doesn't eat wood in one day, but it does gradually damage it. You must always protect your relationship against Evil Eye.

Actually, you must protect a lot of things against Evil Eye, including your possessions and success. If you feel that Evil Eye is coming out from your enemies, feel free to reverse it back at them. It will slowly eat them.

Cause # 4.

Natural end. Listen closely:

Not all relationships are meant to last forever. Most of them are meant to end. But at the same time, not all of them are meant to end when two people agree to end it. Very often someone gets hurt, or even two people get hurt.

What can you do in this case?

The best thing to do is get a Tarot Reading and see what is going on and what your options are. Make sure you get a reading from a reader who does Magick, otherwise there is a high chance that you will get an answer to "move on", which will be very unsatisfactory for you.

If a natural break up happens, Love Magick can help you. There are so many types of spells out there for this exact same purpose: reuniting people after a natural cycle ended.

Very often, during this period, at least one half of the couple starts dating someone else. Usually, it is rebound dating. If it is, no break up spell should be used. If it is not rebound dating, a reader must diagnose for the seriousness of the other relationship and suggest the appropriate type of Magick for that.

There is a very small chance that the other half will have to go through that dating experience, which often serves a very beneficial purpose for the person who wants to reconcile. Many people don't understand this, but there is a lot of comparison done to the previous relationship.

When Love Magick is deployed in your favor, the other relationship will start to become annoying, frustrating, insecure, unstable, and unfaithful.

How can he or she compare things to you without having that new relationship?

When Love Magick is used, many times the ex returns to the arms of the customer with love and passion. This is because they made comparisons and they did not like the new stuff.

Cause # 5.

Euphoria. Don't miss a word of this piece of information.

No, it's not that euphoria. It is a comparison word. Let me explain. Any relationship has its own ups and downs. Those ups and downs make it interesting and exciting. Without downs, ups wouldn't be so cool and exciting.

It would be like a stable baseline otherwise, and that is so boring. That's also nearly a guarantee of a future break up. People need drama, at least a little bit.

Also, without drama, the value is getting lost. So, if there is boredom and no value – prepare for disaster. Too much stability can be as damaging as too much instability. But here is where it gets tricky: even though people like drama and excitement, they don't usually know how to handle it when it comes.

A lot of times, people take things the wrong way. During these moments everything becomes agitated. One “wrong” word, look or action can lead to a fight. And a big one.

During that period some nice boy or girl may show up in the life of your loved one. Because things are not going well with you (according your loved one) and because the new boy or girl is simply new – that usually leads to a higher level of excitement, fun sex, and emotional attachment toward that new person.

And very often your loved one has no guilt over it. At that point they see it as justified, because according to them, you may be what people say - “an ahole who doesn't care”.

If you ever find out about that and confront your loved one, they will find an infinite number of excuses and will most likely make you feel guilty for it.

Here comes a problem for your loved one as well: because those new relationships are simply a craving for excitement, they are almost always destined to fail. They are usually nothing more than flings. But they can cause severe damage between you and your loved one.

Cause # 6.

Unbalanced roles. I'm ready to EXPLODE on this one!

This is more of a later trend. It usually goes like this: the woman works, pays bills and makes a much greater amount of money than the man does. Meanwhile, the man watches TV, drinks beer and hangs out with his buddies.

It can also go like this: the man works and pay bills while the woman parties all the time.

And if a child is involved, it becomes much more complicated. Parents start getting very fierce if the second half is not playing the important and very often necessary role of taking care of the child, which very often involves finances.

These cases are usually the hardest to resolve using Magick, and very often I personally decline them. If a man doesn't want to work and provide support for his woman and a child, then I strongly feel that the woman deserves someone better.

If a woman is partying all the time and hooks up with other guys while her man works hard to provide for the family, then I strongly feel that the man deserves someone better.

The only times I do accept these cases is when a person is willing to change. And usually this type of Love Magick requires combinations of other types of Magick as well.

Don't get me wrong here, I am always for saving a marriage or a relationship as soon as it doesn't hurt people to severe degrees. I personally know too many people who were victims of such relationships, and I just have no desire to reconcile something like this unless the “offender” wants a major positive change. And I perfectly understand that normal setbacks can happen. Someone can lose a job. Someone may want to party. Someone may simply need a vacation. But it can't last forever. It is not about desires. It is about the attitude. If the attitude is uncaring and it is damaging – then it is better to let go.

One important thing here: one half of a couple can easily develop this type of attitude if Black Magick is involved! Evil Eye can cause this attitude as well.

When things like that happen, don't blame anyone right away. Diagnose your relationship for Black Magick or Evil Eye first!!! If it is present and removed, a relationship can easily take a fascinating turn for the better.

Cause # 7.

A combination of things mentioned above and more! WARNING! Yes, it can happen!

Yes, several things can happen at once. And also, other difficulties may come through, like parents may disagree with a choice about their child, cultural differences, socio-economic differences, belief systems, career choices, friend selection disagreements, and so on. And people change. A person whom you met 5 years ago may be a different person today. You may be different today. Both of you may.

It gets very complicated. That's why a quality Tarot Reading should be the first step when you want your relationship to be reconciled.

Otherwise, hitting who knows what with love spells will cause much more damage than already exists.

And this is what we will talk about next.

REUNITING TWO PEOPLE

The First Step: Diagnostic

Just think how important it is to know where to aim, how to aim, when to aim and what spells to aim with when it comes to successfully bringing your loved one back to you.

Without a quality diagnostic you will not be able to successfully reconcile with your ex. It has been proven over and over again. That's why I have so many people writing me that they went to several other Magicians and nothing happened. I'm not surprised even a bit. Are you?

Well, assuming that those Magicians actually did spell work, what usually happens is that the spells were fired, but since the aim was incorrect, the energy did not hit the right area. So, now it is just sitting there stuck, creating a block that keeps you and your loved one even further apart.

If several Magicians did it, then there are several blocks that keep you and your loved one apart. Unless those blocks are removed, don't expect much. Treat this as a solid fact.

Whether one Magician does it correctly or you hire ten practitioners – you will not get any results. The more inadequate Magicians you hire, the more counterproductive results you will get.

Again, it has been proven over and over, and any reputable Magician perfectly knows this.

And of course, there are charlatans out there who will simply take your money and will not do anything.

If you still hope to reunite with your loved one, then it would be much better if you fell into the trap of a charlatan than that of a disreputable Magician, because in this case no blocks are actually created. Yes, you lost money, time and suffered a frustration – but at least no additional blocks were created for an already hard situation.

If someone comes to me for Love Magick and they got help from an inexperienced Magician, I have to remove the work done by that Magician and clear all blocks so the pathways to reuniting success can be opened again.

And of course, that is an additional cost to the customer, as it involves a lot of work. It is easy to cast a spell, yet it is annoying to get it removed, energy fields cleared, damage repaired and then healed.

Plus it all takes time, which neither the Magician nor you want to waste. When it comes to getting your loved one back, every day and every moment counts.

There will be a very small percentage of people who are reading this ebook and know how to do a quality diagnostic. This book is on Love Magick and that's why I haven't included how to diagnose a case. If you really want to do it yourself, then you can use my book on Tarot as a guide. It is coming out very soon. Keep checking our collection of Magick Books on the PlutoCraft website.

Another major reason why I don't write about how to diagnose a case is because people who want to get their loved one back are not in the right state to do this type of diagnostic. They will either get the scariest results possible or they will get something they would love to see – more often than not, they will not get the real truth because they are too emotionally invested.

At PlutoCraft, we already did this experiment. It doesn't work out well at all when a person who wants their loved one back does a self-diagnostic. And very often, people don't even understand what is going on when they lay out complicated spreads of Tarot Cards. I personally do diagnostics with Tarot Cards and Universal Love oracle cards. I also use Vampires of the Eternal Night Tarot because it is a great deck to diagnose shadow or dark sides.

Sometimes I use Remote Viewing as well. This is where I get into the energy field of another person and read them that way. I also get into their subconscious mind and see what is going on there. This gives me a clear picture of the situation from THEIR perspective.

In order for you to get your situation diagnosed, refer to a professional. You can order your diagnostic from me or you can find a reputable Psychic in your area.

When you look for a Psychic, make sure they know Magick. Otherwise, they can't suggest the correct type of spell work.

One hint I can give you which you must look for: if a Psychic suggests you put a love spell on your ex, you need to start looking for another psychic. You will find out why later in this book.

I charge $150.00 to diagnose a case which takes a good deal of effort and time. It is not a regular Tarot Reading even though Tarot Cards are often used as a tool.

Because I diagnose a case very well, I do not experience failures when it comes to Love Magick; I know whom to hit, where to hit, how to hit, when to hit, and all those goodies.

And then, like a sniper, I do spells like clean shots with no mess. One shot – one kill. Or... One spell – one success. This is how I like it. You should too.

You know what I mean, don't you?

The Second Step: Removing Obsession

By the time people come to me, at least a decent half of them are obsessed with two things: their loved one and getting their loved one back.

And that is perfectly understandable. People go through a lot. Break up itself is a major impact on their life, and trying to find a way to bring a loved one back is another major impact.

Remember how we just talked about Magicians who don't know what they are doing? Well, when a love spell gets stuck and creates a block, it causes severe obsession in you. A great deal of that spell's energy starts bouncing back at you and starts to create fears, illusions, worries and doubts in you. It also strengthens your feelings for the loved one. Its original purpose was to strengthen the feelings of your loved one, not yours.

Because, most likely, it was the incorrect type of spell in the first place and was fired during an incorrect time and at the incorrect area – it now serves like a powerful Spirit in a hostile environment. And you are the one who is paying a big price for it.

At PlutoCraft, Nancy and I know that once we remove these spells, obsession leaves the person. Many of our clients know that by now, too.

And yes, obsession can also be natural. People can have natural obsessive qualities in them.

Why is obsession so bad for Love Magick? Because your loved one will not return to you.

See, when there is obsession, you automatically radiate thought forms of insecurity towards your loved one. He or she picks up on them through many different ways and it serves as a confirmation for them that they made the right choice: broke up with you.

Obsession projects feelings that you are insecure, weak, not the right person, boring, predictable, angry, frustrating, and much more in your loved one's mind. They don't want to be with a person who has these qualities. Would you?

So, obsession is something I remove when I do Love Magick. I replace it with strength and security. This aids a lot when it comes to doing love related spells because now your loved one senses you as strong, secure, confident, fun, valuable, stable, and an excellent person to be within their minds.

Very often, this is when your loved one starts to develop confusion, because not a long time ago they viewed you as weak and now they sense you as a strong person. Even if your loved one is with someone else, the sensations they get make them hesitate about being with that someone else. This is because by now you have become much stronger person than that someone else.

And in reality, you actually do become one! I don't work by causing illusions. I actually do the work so you become a strong, confident and secure person! It becomes all natural. Many people tell me that because of this other areas of their life dramatically improve as well.

The Third Step: Reuniting

Now comes the fun part. Reuniting two people.

This part of the e book consists of several sections because reuniting can go so many ways. If your loved one is in a relationship with another person, it must be broken up. If your loved one is not, then reuniting needs to take a different route.

And then, the process of reuniting can sometimes be pretty lengthy itself. I am often asked: how long? And that is something I don't like answering even though I know myself how long it will take for a certain couple.

If I answer, then all people do is sit and wait for that “miracle date”. Well, what they are actually doing is interfering with my work. They will still get their loved one back, it just will happen later. Giving out a date when things will happen is like opening another can of worms which holds obsession and insecurity.

Expect reuniting periods to be from 3 days to 3 months. Anything can happen on the third day after you order Love Magick from me. And it can last up to 3 months. Sometimes even longer. One out of ten couples I do work for sometimes wait 6 months. The longest time period I had was one year. But that was such a lost case and had so much Black Magick and incorrectly aimed Love Magick attached to it that it wasn't even funny. It also included Spirit attachments and required a lot of healing.

Plus, we had to really go against destiny there. Yet, we are extremely proud we did it because no other Magician wanted to even touch it. Of course, charlatans promised results in 3 days :) Some in 24 hours :)

Amateur Magicians promised results in 2 – 3 weeks without even diagnosing the case.

Ok, let's talk about things related to breaking up a couple. If your loved one is with someone else, very often it does require a break up spell to speed up the results. If, let's say, Love Magick will be done for you, they will still break up, but it will take ten times longer.

A Magician reads the other couple's strengths and weaknesses. Once a list of weaknesses is made, a Magician then fires a break up spell and intensifies these weaknesses. What happens later is they get very amplified and it results in a quick break up with no remorse (same can happen to you by the way, if someone is doing Black Magick).

Break up Magick is not necessarily Black Magick. I sometimes use Speed Magick for break up. That's when it is coming anyways (naturally), but I speed up the result.

It deals more with Grey Magick. And sometimes Black Magick is done too. It all depends on the case.

So, let's say that insecurity is a weakness in another couple. What a Magician can do is amplify it and in a couple of days or couple of weeks, depending on their strengths, someone will get so insecure and jealous that they will offend your loved one. Or your loved one will. This will lead to a separation which is secured by Discord Magick for people to leave each other and not come back as lovers again.

There are so many things that can be done here. A Magician can also put what we call a barrier on a relationship and then two people will have a very hard time actually physically seeing each other.

A Magician can also drive your competitor completely away from the city or state. We did that, too.

A Magician can also see the weaknesses of your competitor and greatly take advantage of them.

A Magician can also completely ruin the life of your competitor by doing Justice and Karma spells.

Seriously, there is so much that can be done.

Some of my clients complain to me that a competitor stole their loved one. While reading a competitor, I am able to see that is exactly the case – there are many people out there who love hurting others for personal gain.

This is when I am harder on a competitor and send him or her a nice dosage of invisible “boomerang effect” Magick. Even if they go to some Tarot Reader, it will still be invisible.

Very shortly, a person starts suffering the consequences of wrong doings.

If it is another Magician, and that happens sometimes, it takes extra steps and securing a powerful invisible spell that suspends his or her Magickal abilities.

I am always proud to defend and represent my clients in Magickal realms, and if someone used a dirty tactic against my client, I like to amplify these tactics and send them back to the sender, so they can taste their own essence.

Plus, I am able to feel the intentions of the dirty tactics. So if intentions were cruel towards my client, that cruelty will get returned and very amplified.

There were cases at PlutoCraft when some Black Magicians ended up in mental institutions besides losing their abilities to conduct Magick.

Now let's talk about putting a love spell on your loved one. Remember I mentioned above that you should not do it? There are very rare cases when a love spell must be put on your loved one. Why? Because more likely than not, they still love you!

What happens if you put a love spell on someone who loves you? Well, either you will get obsessed, they will get obsessed or the love will be destroyed. Too much is never good! It creates the opposite effect when it comes to Magick.

The correct spell that needs to be fired is called a reconciling spell. It deals with bringing two people together. And if someone's feelings need to be amplified a bit – it will amplify them!

Love spells do NOT deal with bringing two people together. In the best case scenario, what will happen is both of you will love each other but still will not be together due to so many interferences.

Your goal is to be together and in love. That's why it is absolutely necessary to do a quality diagnostic and see how you can achieve being together and in love before you even do any spells. Love spells deal with feelings. A reconciling spell deals with feelings AND circumstances. It is much more potent when it comes to reuniting people. On the other side, love spells can be very damaging.

If you ordered some sort of love spell from a Magician and did not get any results, then by now you should know exactly why that is.

Now, let's talk about if your lover is single and not dating anyone else. In this case, obviously, break up is not needed.

What must be done is this:

- All roads for reconciling must be cleared.
- Complete clarity of what types of spells: when, how, and where to be fired.
- What supplies must be used for each spell: what candles, what herbs, what oils.
- Which deity will be a helping deity.
- Double check for all negativity and blockages.

And finally...

- Fire the reconciling spell work.

Reconciling spell work usually consists of several spells that are fired on two people separately.

Some free Internet spells suggest: “take pink candle, carve your name, her name...”

That is wrong. Candles must be separate when reconciling is performed, and usually the client's candle is aimed for irresistibility and confidence while the target's candle is aimed for returning back. But that is “usually” ... All cases are very individual. Sometimes the client's candles are lit on one day and the target's candles are lit on another day. Different prayers are read for different couples.

Reconciling Magick should always be done in conjunction with Sex Magick, otherwise two people will come together in love but will have problems related to sex. Either complete sexual dissatisfaction or cheating will occur later.

Reconciling Magick should be supported by protecting deities so no other interference will be able to remove its effect. If the customer wishes, for additional charge, faster results can be achieved by using the energy of planet Mercury.

There is no universal sure-fire system that guarantees great reconciliation for every couple with a single particular method. That's why Love Magick is so easy to fail at. That's why so many people out there get scammed. That's why quality Love Magick actually costs money.

And that is why quality Love Magick is also an extremely powerful weapon that can be used to successfully reunite two people together. Permanently! Once done right, two people can share precious moments again, take their relationship to the next level, get married and have a fantastic family.

Love Magick is very powerful when done right. Never underestimate it's power.

Love Magick can help you get your loved one back and keep your loved one back! It can secure your relationship against any interference. And when combined with certain deities, even Black Magicians will be powerless to break the two of you up.

While Magick Is In Progress

While Magick is in progress, which actually starts right after you order the work, it is very important to stay calm and balanced. Constantly asking “when will I get results?”, “is it all real?”, “will it work for me?”, “what if this and that?” - it delays your results. When the person simply orders love work and then simply continues with his or her life – that's when Love Magick will deliver the fastest most powerful results.

Under no circumstances should you sit and wait for your ex to come back. It is insecurity. Continue with your life. Magick loves the unexpected. It usually happens when you least expect it.

Also, about 99% of the time you don't see any signs or results. Yes, most of my clients do get powerful dreams, intuition, and feelings of ease, but they don't usually see any of what I call tangible improvements coming from their loved one, It even happens sometimes when people get what they judge to be opposite results. Those are illusions. For example, the loved one stops completely calling or texting, and clients start assuming that their loved one found someone else.

Building false assumptions while Magick work is in progress will delay results. And what's really interesting is that those false assumptions are almost always very negative like he or she doesn't love me anymore, found someone new, is having sex with someone else, etc...

Don't build any false assumptions unless you have solid proof. Otherwise, it will be very counterproductive.

And then, during one bright moment, everything happens very quickly and unexpectedly! The loved one calls with “I'm so sorry, I love you”, or they run into each other which leads to a whole night of passion, or the loved one says “Let's be forever and ever” ... Whatever it is, it all happens when people least expect it.

And how exciting it is!!! Can you only imagine???

Remember: 99% of the time you see no tangible proof of results. This is just how Magick works. Your job is not to sit, wait, assume, project insecurity and worry. Your job is to continue with your life and sort of “forget” the whole situation.

If you have difficulty doing that, contact the Magician who is doing work for you and explain the situation.

On Timing

As I said earlier, I don't like to give out time frames. I explained the reasons why. Magick needs time, and very often certain events need to happen before you get your results.

This is a very important factor when it comes to doing permanent Magick. If you want your loved one for a relationship, not just for 3 days or so, you must be patient whether it takes a couple days to get your results or a couple months.

If you would understand how Magick works, you would perfectly understand why this is so. But you don't need to understand how Magick works. Just understand that Magick takes time. Especially when it comes to quality permanent Magick.

Look, if you have a house with an old roof, it may leak when it rains. You can quickly patch the hole. The next thing, another leak may happen. Or the patch itself may start leaking.

Or you can replace the whole roof and have a new one.

Obviously, replacing the whole roof takes time, effort and money.

The same applies to Magick. Quality Magick does cost more, it does require more effort from a Magician, and it does take time to do the Magick itself and then for spells to take effect.

However once everything happens – the reward for such dedication is enormous!

And here is another note: people who want things too quick simply don't understand how Magick works. They usually go and find those who promise them “guaranteed results in 3 days”. And then, they still come back to me.

Don't be a victim of impatience.

I train other Magicians; I know what I am teaching you.

When Lover Comes Back

And here comes a day, an hour, a minute and a moment when the lover returns and people get reunited.

Time to enjoy it, isn't it?

Well, a lot of people have a tendency to go into the past. A lot of clients, instead of closing a door on the past, bring it back into the present by starting to argue who did wrong, blaming their loved one, getting all possessive, and the list goes on and on.

Those are the worst things you can do. Learn how to close the door on the past. Even if your loved one brings something up, jokingly say "It doesn't matter anymore, we will do much better this time". Don't fight over some past b.s.! If anything, you may be as guilty as your loved one. Things don't usually go one-sided.

Instead, enjoy the moment. Hold your loved one in your hands. Go on a date. Have fun. Have great sex! Start building a better future together!

Securing Your Lover

Sometimes, some relationships require extra security. Sometimes clients just want it as they feel safer that way. I encourage it too, especially 6 months after you get back together with your loved one.

And then you can do security every year or even every 18 months or so.

Security simply means using protection spells on the relationship to protect it against future break ups, interference of Evil Eye, and to protect it from infidelity.

When protecting a relationship from infidelity, make sure you stay faithful too. Otherwise, it won't work.

Taking Next Steps

I hope you enjoy this very informative e book. I also hope that you now have a much clearer picture about Love Magick.

Next, you can go ahead and order your Case Diagnostic either from me or from a reputable Magician in your area.

Don't wait. Every day counts. Every moment counts.

As I mentioned earlier I charge $150.00 for a case diagnostic.

When you make the decision to hire me for Magick, I can assure you that if I tell you that this is something I can do – you will get results!

At PlutoCraft we maintain a 100% success rate when it comes to Magick. And we love keeping it that way. The reason we maintain a 100% success rate is because we thoroughly diagnose every case and make sure that it is something we can do.

Also, Nancy and I (she is my dear friend and a business partner for those who don't know) always consult with each other before taking someone's case.

I want you to make a proper and correct judgment.

For Guaranteed Results
Work With Me

Look here and pay close attention: Love Magick is a delicate, surgery-like procedure.

If you think you can do it yourself, I truly want to congratulate you. It means you have bravery, courage and believe in yourself! I sincerely wish you only success and that get your loved one back as soon as possible.

If you feel that during this hard moment you are not in the right position to bring your loved one back using Magick, feel free to know that it is perfectly ok.

Most people aren't in a right state to do it. I know it.

In fact, most people want their loved one back and they become perfect victims of charlatans who promise them everything they want to hear.

Next, I want to give you a couple of signs to spot a charlatan. Let's do it.

How To Spot A Charlatan

Here are some tips on how to spot charlatans.

Look for a “30 years of experience” claim on the website, and then when you call, a girl with the voice of a 17-year-old answers your phone call and reads you a script. She should at least sound like 30... Shouldn't she?

Someone offers you love spells for $50.00. Ok, remember we just talked about how love spells should not even be used to reconcile with your loved one in the first place?

Someone offers you a spell for like $50.00 I seriously don't understand this one. I personally spend more money on supplies for every customer... Yes, I do buy very high quality supplies as it makes a dramatic difference, but even with dirt cheap supplies... $50.00??? Come on, let's get real here.

Someone has set prices for Love Magick on the website like in a catalog – click, add to cart, check out... This is another thing: no diagnostic??? Just select a spell and pay for it? And set prices as well? Well, all work should be very individualized when it comes to reuniting with your ex lover. I personally don't know of any system that works for every case. And set price, how does that work? Some of my clients have to pay three times more than other clients do... Again, all cases are very individual. As far as I know, it is not mass production.

Claims like “Real white magick love spells” - well, Love Magick is grey in nature. Every successful Magician will instantly agree on this.

Claims like “all spells are cast in 24 hours” - hmmm, every successful Magician knows that timing is a HUGE factor for spell casting.

Successful Magicians calculate timing using Astrology. And as far as I know, good timings are available usually a couple times a week. Plus it does require some preparation. Preparation is a big key.

“Single strength, double strength, triple strength”. That is a very clear sign of either a charlatan or a wanna-be Magician. Strength is measured in the diagnostic and ONLY the right amount of strength should be used. Too much strength will produce counterproductive results. Weak Magick will not be able to penetrate. Making your Magick strong and spell strength are two totally different things.

“Single cast, double cast, triple cast” - pretty much same principle. If someone can't get you results from the first time, then it should be a warning sign. I have to say that sometimes I have to cast another spell, but it is a totally different spell that goes into the adjustment of results and has nothing to do with the amount of spell castings.

“Immediate results” - I don't think I have to explain this one...

“Guaranteed results in 3 days (or 7 days, or two weeks).” - yes, some of my clients actually do get results in 3 days. Some get them almost immediately. But some don't and some wait for months. I do always work to bring people together as fast as I can. Because every case is individual, there is no way I can guarantee results in X amount of days. Every successful Magician will instantly agree that there are many factors that determine how fast two people can come together. Upon request of my clients and additional payment, I can employ speedier Magick, but not for every single case I do.

Speed Magick is a totally different branch of Magick and it is used in conjunction with Love Magick. Also, I always light extra candles for maximum speed without using the Speed Magick.

“God gifted, I can solve any love problem...” - wow, what a talent! I have to sometimes say “no” to people whom I truly want to help because sometimes Universe clearly shows that some things are meant to be that way. Those are very rare cases, but they do happen. If someone is claiming that they can solve any love problem and are also “God gifted”... Well, all I can say is that sounds impressive. All truly God gifted people I know NEVER make these claims.

Now you have some pointers on how to identify charlatans. And follow your intuition too. If it sounds too good to be true, it usually is. If prices are too cheap, then most likely it is the same as too good to be true.

Final Words

Look, I seriously want you to work with me for a guaranteed result from the first time. I have way too many people who contact me, contact many others at the same time, then they go to others and still come back to me. Most likely, if you take that route, you will also come back to me at the end.

The only problems is that you will waste a lot of time, money and will push your loved one further away. And then I will have to do extra work to fix the damage. It is an unnecessary route to take which causes more complications for you. I am a very straightforward person, and I am telling you things how they are. It is as simple as that. The choice is yours, of course.

Let me explain to you how I do this business so you make a wise decision.

Like I said earlier, I have had many people contact me and then go somewhere else... Then, they still come back to me. And then, they don't go anywhere else after it. People stick with me for their other needs like Money Magick, Protection Magick and other forms of Magick.

I think the reasons for that are very obvious.

Don't get me wrong, there are some really talented Magicians out there. And there are other people who can help you bring your loved one back using Love Magick.

The only issue is that, among so many charlatans, those people are hard to find.

Under no means am I saying that I'm the best. But I do give myself a huge credit for what I am doing and for my confidence in helping people. Most importantly, I give myself a huge credit for the results that I get.

What's my trick? As I said earlier, I diagnose cases first. If cards are showing me that I can't do some case or it is not meant to happen – then I say “no” to the client and provide them with other options.

Also, I get paid by results. I require 1/3 to start the case, then 1/3 when the client starts getting results, and finally 1/3 after the client gets results.

Obviously, since I want my money, I will be getting your loved one back as quickly and genuinely as possible. I do have my rules and I am strict about them. They are posted on my website:

<http://plutocraft.com/about-us/rules/>

And I work with another Master Magician – Nancy, as I mentioned above. We always take time to discuss a case before accepting it to make sure that it will be done successfully.

Think carefully about in whose hands you will entrust the reconciling of you and your loved one.

Here are just some of my qualifications when it comes to doing Magick.
